OUR LADY
OF
MARQUETTE

With an educational background stemming from their foundation in 1535, the nuns of the Ursuline Order came to the Alton area in 1859 to begin another venture into the field of education. Their first school was an academy and boarding school for girls. As their fame as Catholic educators grew, the Ursulines opened many parish elementary schools in the Alton area. They were a natural choice for Bishop James A. Griffin to implement his plan for co-educational secondary school in Alton. That plan became a reality with the opening of Marquette High School in 1927, the first co-educational high school in the Diocese of Springfield.

We would like to dedicate this yearbook to these Ursuline Nuns who have devoted their time, knowledge, and most of all, love to the students of Marquette.

Mock Disaster

On October 19, 1981 some Seniors participated in the ACHES Mock Disaster. The purpose of this was to see if Alton and the surrounding areas would be able to handle a major crisis. Seniors were made up to look as if they were injured. They were transported to hospitals and treated. They all had a lot of fun in helping Alton prepare for any further disasters.

Lent

Lent is the period of fasting and penitence traditionally observed by Christians in preparation for Easter. The total length of the Lenten fast, during which observants ate sparingly, was established in the fourth century as forty days. In the Eastern churches, where both Saturdays and Sundays are regarded as festival days, the period of Lent comprises the eight weeks before Easter; in the Western churches, where only Sunday is regarded as a festival, the forty-day period begins on Ash Wednesday and extends with the omission of Sundays, to the day before Easter. The observance of fasting or other forms of self-denial during Lent varies within the Protestant churches and the Anglican churches. These bodies emphasize the penitential aspect of the Lenten season. The Roman Catholic Church has in recent years relaxed its laws on fasting. According to an apostolic constitution issued by Pope Paul IV in February 1966, fasting and abstinence during Lent are obligatory only on Ash Wednesday and Good Friday.

With the continued growth of enrollment, Marquette increased it's size this year. A new building began last year and is now near completion. Four new classrooms have been added. There is also a new library and a boys locker room. This new building is carpeted and air conditioned.

With this page we would like to thank all those who have supported the Marquette Building Fund. We thank all of those who have volunteered their time and service to our school.

Together We Stay

As we approach our final steps we tend to look back and wonder where time went.

Childhood dreams never to forget
But as fate would have it a new path is set.
The long walked road was meant to end
And along the way we gained many a friend

The school has changed as so have we,
But a part of Marquette, the two will always be.
Our time together here is put to sleep

Though many are the memories which we will keep,
United as one we have cheered, cried and prayed
Reminiscing of all the good times MHS has made.

With our forthcoming days will come new goals and faces
Leaving along the way, Explorer traces.

We go forth as a class, a class to be remembered as one
We have established our place, our time is done.

As our lives move on, each takes a separate way
We have grown together; together we will stay.

the 1990s, the number of people with a mental health problem has increased by 50% (Mental Health Foundation 1999).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of people with mental health problems, and a number of initiatives have been developed to improve the lives of people with mental health problems. The Mental Health Act 1983 was amended in 1996 to give people with mental health problems more rights and to improve the way in which they are treated. The Mental Health Act 1996 was introduced to give people with mental health problems more rights and to improve the way in which they are treated.
